Man with Ten-Year Record of Break-Ins Arrested and Charged with Three More

A suspect with a ten-year record of break-ins here, who had been free while awaiting sentencing for a burglary last October 31 in the Township, has been apprehended again and charged with entry into three Borough homes early Saturday morning.

The suspect, Dennis White, 34, of North Harrison Street, was arraigned later Saturday before Judge Russell W. Anich Jr. and charged with the burglary and theft of homes on Moore and Wiggins streets. He was sent to the Mercer County Detention Center in lieu of $5,000 cash bail on each charge. In addition, a third charge of breaking and entering at a Jefferson Road home was forwarded to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office because White was already in jail at the time. Police here are also in the process of trying to link White to a fourth entry during the weekend in another home on Jefferson Road.

Chief Anthony Pinelli of the Township said that White has been arrested and charged with at least 12 burglaries since he was first arrested in 1977. "It's every year, a continual thing." Following his last sentence for breaking and entering, White was given a five-year sentence but was out on the streets within two years, Chief Pinelli said.

Failure to keep White in jail has been a source of frustration for both Chief Pinelli and Borough Chief Michael Carnevale. At a joint press conference Tuesday morning with Chief Pinelli, Chief Carnevale made it clear when he said, "We've done our job — as we have in the past. Now we hope the criminal justice system will do theirs in dealing with burglars."

"Without question," continued Chief Carnevale, "there is a flaw in a criminal justice system that allows a criminal to orchestrate a one-man crime spree against innocent

Seminary Does About Face on Property Taxes, Will Sharply Raise Its Voluntary Contributions

Beginning this year, Princeton Theological Seminary will considerably increase its annual contribution to the Borough tax coffers. At a press conference Monday at Borough Hall, Seminary President Thomas Gillespie announced that the Seminary would begin paying the Borough $3,000 a year in lieu of taxes for each of its 17 tax-exempt houses. In addition, it will triple its annual payment in lieu of taxes for the Seminary proper, from $5,000 to $15,000.

The suprise announcement came on the heels of a court decision affirming the Seminary's right not to pay taxes on 91 and 93 Mercer Street, houses valued at more than $400,000 each.

While a beaming Mayor Sigmund looked on, President Gillespie read the terms of the agreement with the Borough, which includes a provision that the Seminary forego its right to request further exemption for any houses that are not contiguous with its campus.

SEMINARY ACCORD: Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund looks on while Princeton Theological Seminary President Thomas W. Gillespie reads the terms of an agreement reached with the Borough in which the Seminary agrees to pay $51,000 a year in lieu of taxes on faculty housing and $15,000 a year in lieu of taxes for the Seminary proper.

The agreement also states that the in-lieu payment for faculty houses shall be adjusted annually based on a formula which takes into account changes in value and in tax rate.

Dr. Gillespie, who has led the Seminary for the past four years, said he was embarrassed that the Seminary had ever got at cross purposes with the Borough, and said that he had always intended to do something about it.

"There is a long history of removing properties from the tax rolls," he said. "But when the situation in the Borough became so desperate that there was resistance, we reviewed it and found we were not carrying our share of the tax load."

The Borough, in 1985, denied the Seminary the right to remove 91 and 93 Mercer Street from the tax rolls. The Seminary took the case to the Tax Court, which ruled in its favor. Last month, the Appellate Court affirmed the Tax Court's decision.

ETS Expansion Hearing Postponed by Lawrence

Further action on the proposal by Educational Testing Service to double its office space on Rosedale Road has been postponed until September.

In domino fashion, the cancellation of a Lawrence Township Council meeting, set for Tuesday after TOWN TOPICS had gone to press, canceled the special meeting of the Lawrence Planning Board called for this Wednesday to hear and possibly approve the site plan. ETS proposes to add 447,000 square feet of space in three large and one small office building, and to add an additional 65,000 square feet, or 55 rooms, to its Henry Chauncey Conference Center.

On the Lawrence Township Council agenda was a zoning amendment substituting "educational or research institutions" for "research complexes" as a permitted condi-

Should Lake Carnegie Itself Become an Historic Site? Mayor Firestone Thinks So; Mayor Sigmund, Board, Say No.

Which is more important: that traffic begin moving over the Harrison Street Bridge as soon as possible to help the traffic circulation in general and Princeton Shopping Center merchants in particular? Or that the historic character and park-like setting of Lake Carnegie and the D&R Canal not be marred by a bridge that is out of keeping with its special setting?

In the two years since the Harrison Street Bridge was closed, the Planning Board, Township Committee members and the planning and engineering staff have tended toward the latter criterion as they struggled with the Department of Transportation (DOT) for "amenities" in the replacement bridge. But last week the board took a different tack.

Led by Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund, members voted down a suggestion by Township Mayor Gail W. Firestone and Dugan Kimball, professional planner, that a study be undertaken to see whether Lake Carnegie itself can be listed on the state and federal register of historic sites. The suggestion was prompted by the recent discovery that the DOT has yet to undertake as complete an historic review as it is required to do under federal guidelines that are operative when federal funds are involved. The Harrison Street Bridge replacement will be built with 80 percent federal funds, the balance coming from the state and the county.

The matter of the bridge was raised at last week's Planning Board meeting by Mayor Firestone, who was sitting as chairman in the absence of Hans Sander, the regular chairman, and the two vice-chairmen, Margen Penick and Richard Henkel. Mayor Firestone began by reporting on the recent meeting to discuss the bridge at the D&R Canal Commission.

She then called on Mr. Kimball, who explained that Lake Carnegie was included in the listing of community historic districts when the board adopted an historic element as an amendment to its 1980 Master Plan.

The next step, he suggested, would be to ask Heritage Studies, the consulting firm form-

Seminary

The next step for the Borough would have been to appeal to the state Supreme Court. However, before doing that, Mayor and Council decided that further negotiations with the Seminary were in order. These negotiations, under way even at the time of the Appellate Court decision, resulted in the settlement announced Monday.

Dr. Gillespie made clear that the settlement was in no way a gift to the Borough. "This is recognition for services received," he said. "Speaking for our institution, it is important to be responsible — in our own eyes at least. We are proud of our long roots in Princeton. We love the Borough and we love Princeton."

The Seminary is expected to pay $109,775 to the Borough in 1987. This includes $43,775 on its taxable property; a total of $51,000 in lieu of taxes on tax-exempt property; and $15,000 as its annual contribution.

Princeton University makes a $35,000 annual contribution to the Borough. Its tax-exempt property is assessed at $187 million. In addition, the University pays taxes on non-campus residential property valued at $30.3 million. Forty-four percent of property in the Borough is tax-exempt.

victims while awaiting sentencing over a long period of time. Innocent, law-abiding citizens in our community feel vulnerable in the sanctity of their homes because of a breakdown in the system.

"Chief Pinelli and I have been particularly concerned. All the police investigations and neighborhood crime watch programs cannot succeed without having the rest of the criminal justice system working. We feel the whole issue is important enough for both us to share our concerns with the press."

Combined Police Effort. White's apprehension was the result of a combined effort by Borough and Township police.

It began at 2:46 Saturday morning when police received a call from a Moore Street resident. The caller reported a black male, dressed in black had just fled from her house after breaking in. She told police that she and her daughter had been asleep in an air-conditioned room on the first floor because of the heat when she awoke and saw the suspect crawling toward her along the floor. She shouted at the suspect who jumped up and fled from the house when she chased after him. The plucky resident called police and supplied a description.

Sgt. William Clark, Det. Michael Taylor and Patrolmen Chris Boutote and Ronald Wohlschlegel and Patrol Officer Carol Raymond responded in three cars. A short time later, Det. Taylor, while searching the area on foot, reported that he had observed Dennis White in the driveway of a Wiggins Street home. Township police were asked for backup, and Patrolmen David Cromwell, Mark Emann, David Leiggi and Ernest Silagyi responded. Police surrounded the block bordered by Moore, Wiggins, Park Place and Madison. Once the area was surrounded, they illuminated it with high-powered stream lights, causing the suspect to dart across Wiggins Street where he was apprehended by Det. Taylor and Ptl. Wohlschlegel.

When arrested, White told police, "You ain't got nothing on me; I was just going out for a walk. You're harrassing me again."

Upon his apprehension, White threw a set of car keys to the ground. A check of cars in the area revealed that they were from a car parked behind a home on Wiggins. Police ascertained that White had taken the keys and $2 from a pocketbook left in the hallway of the Wiggins home. He had gained entry through an unlocked front window. Police got the resident out of bed at four in the morning to inform her that her house had been burglarized.

As the investigation continued, police determined that the Moore Street home had been entered by prying open a sliding glass door. Taken by White in that entry were $6 cash and a change purse, a silver coffee creamer and silver sugar holder. The two silver pieces were recovered in the rear yard.

Also found in White's possession was a man's wristwatch (stolen from the Moore Street home) and $100.

As the investigation continued into the morning, police determined that two homes on Jefferson Road had been entered prior to White's apprehension. A change purse taken from one of the homes was found in White's possession, Chief Carnevale said.

Calls of Concern. Chief Pinelli reported that his department has received numerous calls from residents concerned with the weekly rash of burglaries in the community.

Dennis White, he observed, had been released in 1986 from a prior burglary conviction. He was apprehended again last October 31 for a break-in and released on bail the next day. He was indicted for the October entry on December 19 and in May of this year White pleaded guilty to that crime.

"To this day he has not been sentenced and during that time both the Borough and Township have been plagued by numerous burglaries," said Chief Pinelli.

As to his many inquiries about why White was still out on the streets, Chief Pinelli said he was told by officials that the court was awaiting probation reports. Why, with a career criminal, wondered Chief Pinelli, "be concerned with probation reports when it is already obvious he has violated his probation." He added police are just as frustrated as the residents in trying to combat the situation.

Princeton police also learned that White had been arrested in January by Trenton police who charged him with possession of a controlled dangerous substance. "Here is a suspect out of jail since 1986 and here it is the end of July and he is still not sentenced," Chief Pinelli lamented. "To me, there shouldn't be any bail."

"I think," summed up Chief Carnevale, "authorities in the criminal justice system have to be sensitive to the victim who has gone through a traumatic experience. It takes a long time for victims to get over having had their homes entered."

"This whole crime spree has affected the quality of life of our citizens. That is what prompted Chief Pinelli and me to make inquiries about the status of White."

In the meantime, Chief Carnevale concluded, the investigation will continue and police are delighted that White has been apprehended.

Open Space, Traffic Discussed as Hearing On Ettl Farm Plans Gets Off to Slow Start

The Planning Board will continue this Thursday its informal review of a Staten Island developer's proposal to develop the Ettl Farm property on Rosedale Road.

Last Wednesday, Township Mayor Gail W. Firestone, who was sitting in the chairman's seat in the absence of the Planning Board chairman and two vice-chairmen, ended the meeting at 10 because of the heat. Normally, Planning Board meetings continue until 11, or after, but the Township meeting room is not air-conditioned.

The Ettl Farm concept review was supposed to have been the sole item on the agenda, but the board went into closed session on a litigation matter at the outset, and then Mrs. Firestone reported on the historic review that is required for the Harrison Street Bridge replacement. By the time that discussion was concluded, very little time was left for Ettl Farm.

Sanford Nalitt, who purchased the 188-acre property last December, and proposes to develop it as 103 building lots, objected to ending the meeting and postponing the discussion. "I don't think that's fair," Mr. Nalitt said, adding that he had brought consultants all the way from Boston for the review. He also pointed out that over the past year there had been many discussions with an ad hoc committee of the Planning Board, resulting in many adjustments in the plan, and his firm was eager to begin the engineering for the project.

$1 Million Homes. Earlier in the evening, Mr. Nalitt had told the board of his enthusiasm for the project, which he said would be a "source of pride to Princeton." At one point he spoke of the uniqueness of locating luxury manor townhouses of 2,600 square feet for "empty-nesters" and young married people in the same development as single-family homes. The manor houses would carry a $700,000 price tag, while the single-family homes would cost $1 million, he said.

At another point, however, he said he might reduce the number of — or eliminate altogether — the manor houses if a variance is required. Presently 18 manor homes, with a maximum of 54 units, are proposed but have not been located on the site plan. Under the present RM (residential moderate density) zoning a 65-foot buffer is required between these homes and neighboring properties, and in some areas Mr. Nalitt's plan shows less than this amount.

The plan would keep 42 acres of woods and steep slopes at the rear of the property along Stony Brook as open space. Planning Board member James Sayen, who served on the original Open Space Commission, asked if this area, which has long been on the open space "wish list," would be accessible to the public.

Mr. Nalitt said it was his understanding that the Township was "not interested" in acquiring and maintaining the property. Pressed as to whether the system of connected open space that is shown with multiple points of access to the Stony Brook lands means public or private access, Mr. Nalitt said the open space would be owned by a homeowner's association. He left open the possibility he would give the Stony Brook land to the Township, but if access to it is across privately owned property, or land held by a homeowner's association, the use by the public for passive recreation would be limited.

Another Suggestion. Van Zandt Williams of the Site Plan Review Advisory Committee suggested that if open space in the middle of the development were to be compressed by moving the lots along the eastern side away from the property boundary with the Brookstone development, a corridor of open space could be created leading from Rosedale Road to the 42-acre reservation in the rear. Mr. Nalitt did not comment on this proposal.

For the most part, neighbors were concerned about the traffic that would be generated by this proposal and by the proposed ETS office development further along Rosedale Road. They were also concerned about water which pours off the Ettl Farm during heavy rains onto neighboring Fairway Drive properties. This water forms a lake at the intersection of Fairway Drive and Brookstone, and one resident, Victor Silverstein, told of having his diesel Mercedes "totalled" by water that got into the electrical system when he attempted to drive across it.

Harry Tobey of Province Line Road spoke of having to wait 15-20 minutes to get across the Province Line-Rosedale Road intersection in the morning and evening rush hours. He asked the board if it had considered the impact of this development with the potential impact from the proposed ETS office buildings. Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser responded that off-tract improvements would be required as the developer's fair share to the Township's circulation plan.

"That's gobbledey-gook, and you know it," Mr. Tobey responded, unsatisfied. "Our options are limited," said Dugan Kimball, the board's professional planner. "We've been spending a lot of time finding out where the traffic is coming from, and through the Township's traffic consultants have a computerized traffic forecasting system that is unique for a municipality this size."

Mr. Kimball further explained that office use contributes to the traffic problem in that it produces tremendous volumes of traffic compressed into certain time frames. "The Township has taken the dramatic and controversial step of reducing the amount of office use," he pointed out. He was referring to the recent down-zoning in the office-research area along Bunn Drive.

Planning Board member Thomas Poole told the audience that concern about traffic had already led the board to urge the developer to build far fewer homes than he was entitled to. Under the present RM zoning, Sanford Nalitt & Associates is entitled to build some 611 homes, of which 22 percent, 134 units, must be set aside as affordable under the Mt. Laurel guidelines.

There is a proposal to reduce the density in some of the RM zones, including Ettl Farm, but an affordable housing obligation will still pertain. A Planning Board subcommittee has recommended that Nalitt & Associates make a financial contribution in lieu of building the units on the site. This could come to $1.7 million, an amount that Mr. Nalitt disputed last week.

Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund asked the Township to keep the Borough in mind when it came time to allocate this money.

Two Sites for Firehouse To Be Reviewed Thursday

The Planning Board will consider two different locations for a new firehouse in the vicinity of Valley Road and Witherspoon Street Thursday.

An informal concept review of the two sites is on the agenda for a special meeting of the board, which meets at 7:30 in the Valley Road building meeting room. Continuation of the concept review of the proposed development on the Ettl Farm is first on the agenda, followed by consideration of the firehouse location.

The relocation of the Chambers Street Firehouse to a site in the Township as recommended in the Shand Report has been a top priority for Township Committee for the past year. The Valley Road/Witherspoon intersection is considered a good location because of its accessibility and because a firehouse could be built on property owned either by the municipality or by the board of education.

Township Committee has also been considering constructing a new municipal complex to include expanded facilities for the police department and the Township administrative offices. A Facilities Committee was created to plan for these multiple municipal needs, and the architectural firm of Short and Ford was hired to assist in the planning.

Present Proposal. The architect and the committee are proposing that a new three-story building be constructed in place of the present police headquarters and its adjacent parking lot. This building would combine the Township office, the police station and court under one roof, and space would also be provided for board of education offices, according to plans on file at the Planning Board.

Underground parking for 160 cars would be provided below the building, which would be angled to fit the site. The proposal includes two alternative sites for the new firehouse.

The first puts the new firehouse and parking in the triangle behind the existing public works garage. Terhune Road would be closed off at that point in order to create a large enough building area.

The second places the firehouse on what is now the visitor parking area for the Valley Road building. The use of this area will require approval of the board of education, which owns the building. Under both alternatives, the single municipal building/police station remains on Valley Road. However, the Planning Board will only be considering the proposed firehouse locations at its meeting Thursday.

According to comments by Professional Planner Duggan Kimball in a memo to the Planning Board, the smallness and narrowness of the space behind the public works garage raises concerns as to whether there is enough space to design and site the facility properly there. Garmen Associates, the Township's traffic consultants, has reviewed the proposal and questions whether there is adequate room for the 75-foot apron it recommends.

Locating the firehouse on the Valley Road building visitor parking area "would be a good fit from a site design point of view," according to Mr. Kimball. The proposed building would be complementary to the scale and character of the existing neighborhood, and it would screen the Board of Education school bus parking and outside storage area.

The main problem with this alternative is the elimination of the visitor parking area. A new parking lot is shown replacing the grassy area along the Valley Road side of the building. Mr. Kimball notes that if the municipal offices are relocated to a new facility, re-use of the existing building as business, professional or corporate office space "will likely overwhelm the current parking capacity."

Cranbury Contract Near

The Princeton Regional Board of Education has reached an agreement "in principle" with Cranbury that will bring Cranbury students to Princeton High School.

"As far as we can tell, we are agreed on major issues," said Princeton School Board President Corinne Kyle. "We are now awaiting the final contract, which we will present to the Board in September."

Ms. Kyle declined to discuss the details of this contract, pending its presentation to the Board. However, it is expected that Cranbury will begin phasing its freshmen students into the high school in September, 1988. The phase-in, which will continue over four years, will eventually add approximately 130 students to the school.

Cranbury had sought for some seven years to sever its sending relationship with Lawrence Township and send its high school students, instead, to Princeton. This spring, in a reversal of previous decisions, the courts ruled in Cranbury's favor. At that point, negotiations officially began between Princeton and Cranbury.

The probable addition of Cranbury's students comes at a time of sharply decreasing enrollment at the high school. Two years ago, there were approximately 1,000 students at the school. This year, there were 900. Only about 800 students are expected to enroll in September.

Group Forms to Protect Montgomery's River Road

A group of Montgomery Township residents have formed the River Road Association, with the goal of preserving the beauty and historic atmosphere of River Road during the present rapid growth of the area. The association founders include Anna Graeber, a lifetime resident of the community who was instrumental in bringing electrical service to the area in 1931, and Sid and Liz Palus, who moved to Montgomery last year to live in the 260-year-old farmhouse, "Riverbend," built by Christopher Hoagland in 1727.

With irony not lost on the 25-member steering committee, its first action has been to support a developer, Yedlin Development Corporation, the firm which is in the process of transforming the 94-acre Conover farm on River Road into a housing development, has requested a waiver from Somerset County regarding the extent of road widening along the development. The county stipulates an increase of 20 feet from the centerline to the curb. Yedlin has asked to reduce this to 17 feet. This would minimize damage to the natural contour and the existing plants along the road.

The group is also urging that the natural rural hedgerows and borders of huge white pine trees be maintained along the shoulders of the road. In recently constructed developments, all roadside trees and shrubs were removed and, in one case, sidewalks that go nowhere were built.

River Road is a 244-year-old country road that winds along the Millstone River and Bedens Brook. In the early 18th century, English and Dutch settlers bought land along this section of the Millstone and built extensive farms. The names of

Money Issue Rears Its Head in Discussion Of Proposed Roadway Behind Davidson's

The Council Room at Borough Hall was packed on Monday afternoon, mostly with Murray Place residents anxious to reiterate their support for the Borough-proposed road that would lead traffic from the rear of Davidson's out toward Olden Street.

The positions of the residents — wholeheartedly for the road — and of Princeton University — against the new artery — had not changed. Both were enunciated again, by University officials and Murray Place people.

A petition "totally supporting the Borough Council's long-standing plan to build a new road on a right-of-way granted by the University in 1959" was signed by 22 Murray Place residents. It was presented at the beginning of the meeting to Mayor Barbara Sigmund.

But one subject surfaced for the first time at this third meeting in as many weeks in which the University and its neighbors on Murray Place faced off on the issue of the road. This was money.

A 28-foot-wide roadway — the Borough favorite because it could provide as many as 44 additional parking spaces — would require the purchase of 16 feet in the rear of all properties along the 600-foot long artery. The only free easement the Borough has is 16 feet from the owner of the Davidson's property, received as a condition of Zoning Board approval. Karl Light, representing all the owners of Nassau East, has already voiced his opposition to the road.

Even a 12-foot road — which would be built on the right-of-way ceded by Princeton University in 1959 in exchange for permission to build the Engineering Quadrangle — would require payment to the University. "We have the right-of-way, not the land," explained Mayor Sigmund.

She recommended that the issue of money be looked into more fully before the two opposing groups meet again on August 10. "If we figure half a million dollars for a 600-foot road," she said, "we have to compare it to $6 million for an entire sewer system."

Traffic Signals. Mayor Sigmund reported the state Department of Transportation's position on installing traffic signals both at Nassau/Olden and Nassau/Linden. This idea was brought by the Mayor and other Borough officials to the DOT after suggestions at last week's meeting that this dual lighting would create a window for traffic in the section of Nassau Street between the lights.

DOT officials were not in favor of the idea, said the mayor, preferring the Borough's original concept of installing a light only at Nassau/Olden. The new dual system, said the state, would back up traffic too much.

The Borough roadway was proposed two years ago, concurrent with the announcement that Davidson's Market wanted to move into the old Volvo building. The University has recently voiced objections to the idea, citing noise, vibration that might affect delicate instruments, and its own need for expansion space along the ceded right of way.

University officials have admitted that the fact of the right-of-way having been ceded to the Borough in 1959 had escaped the memory of those charged with developing plans for the Engineering School's expansion.

The University has offered to provide extra parking by constructing a parking deck in the rear of Davidson's, on the air rights over its own lot. And it wants all traffic to continue to enter and exit on Nassau Street, as it presently does.

Murray Place residents, according to one resident, are unanimously opposed even to exploring the idea of a parking deck. And they want the traffic to exit onto Olden. Whether the road is 12 or 28 feet wide isn't of great concern to them, just so long as the Borough goes ahead with its plans to construct the as-yet-unnamed artery.

Traffic Count Asked. Mayor Sigmund has asked the Borough Engineering Department to make a traffic and parking count of the Davidson's area and report it at the August 10 meeting. "And double whatever that factor is," she instructed Borough Engineer Carl Peters. "The September figure would be double July's."

The University was also asked to document, at the next meeting, its estimate that it would cost $1 million to move the Engineering School's sensitive equipment away from the proposed roadway.

these original settlers — Beckman, Hoggland, Wyckoff, Vanderveer — are familiar to the area because some present descendants still live in Montgomery.

Duncan Campbell, an 89-year-old dairy farmer, continues to live on the River Road property of Peter Vanderveer, his ancestor about seven generations back. (Vanderveer died in 1777 as a result of having been taken hostage by the British after the Battle of Princeton.) Many historic homes, such as the Campbell farmstead, line River Road, and some are so close to the roadway that any widening would jeopardize the property.

The River Road Association will also explore the possibility of establishing a historic district along the length of the road in Montgomery Township. Further north in Hillsborough Township, River Road has already been declared a historic district.

The association welcomes new members and friends. For

Chairmen Are Selected For Bicentennial Events

The Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area has announced the honorary chairmen for the Princeton Bicentennial Celebration of the Constitution of the United States.

They are led by the Honorable Thomas H. Kean, Governor of New Jersey. Honorary associate chairmen are Dr. Edward J. Bloustein, president, Rutgers University; Dr. William J. Bowen, president, Princeton University; and the Honorable Brendan T. Byrne, Richard J. Hughes, William T. Cahill, and Robert B. Meyner, all former governors of New Jersey.

The Princeton area celebration of the Bicentennial of the Constitution includes five major events conducted over a nine-month period. Upcoming is a symposium on the First Amendment, "Freedom of the Press," to be held at Rutgers University on October 2. The culmination of the celebration will be the weekend of November 20-21, with community participation, a service of Thanksgiving at Princeton University Chapel, a diplomatic reception, and a Grand Ball at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton.

Two Homes Are Entered On Hamilton Avenue

Two homes on Hamilton Avenue were entered last week, Borough police report.

While the occupants of one home were away for a four-day period, someone pried open a window to gain access and once inside, searched cabinets and drawers throughout the house. The only item missing is a jewelry box that contained articles valued at $800.

A pane of glass was broken to reach in and unlock the rear door of another home on Hamilton — again while the occupants were away. There were signs the interior had been searched, police said.

Missing are some antique silverware pieces with the initial "P." Some jewelry is also

The entry into a Linden Lane home the week before was reported to Borough police on Monday.

Taken were three $100 bills, a silver bowl and a silver, heart-shaped box, worth a combined $350, and two bottles of brandy. There were no signs of any forced entry.

University Building Plans On Agenda of Council

Princeton University officials were expected to discuss some of the University's upcoming expansion plans at the Tuesday, July 28, meeting of Borough Council.

They were to be there at the request of Council, said University Vice President Eugene McPartland. "They would like to review the buildings, and there are obviously parking concerns."

Both new structures are close to the Engineering Quadrangle, and thus have a potential impact on the east end parking and traffic problems exacer-

Pinelli Dinner-Dance

A dinner-dance in honor of Chief Anthony M. Pinelli, who is retiring after 25 years of service with the Township Police Department, will be held Sunday, August 30, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel on Route 1.

For a cost of $37.50 per person, there will be cocktails at 5, a prime rib dinner at 6, an open bar and dancing after dinner. Those wishing to attend can purchase tickets by sending a check payable to the Princeton Township Police Department Retirement Fund to Lilian Young, Princeton Township Police, 1 Valley Road, Princeton, 08540.

bated by the opening of Davidson's Market.

The University will discuss the Computer Science Building that will be constructed at the corner of Olden and William Streets, on an existing parking lot directly across from the Engineering Quadrangle.

This application has been heard by the Site Plan Review Advisory Board, said Mr. McPartland, and it is expected to go before the full Planning Board next month.

The second building, the Economics/Center for International Studies, is scheduled to begin in the fall, and on the connecting Corwin Hall with the Woodrow Wilson School. Plans for this have not yet been submitted to the Planning Board.

Construction of the Computer Science building is expected to begin in the fall, and on the Economics/Center of International Studies within six months. Mr. McPartland said that parking spaces will be added adjacent to the Engineering Quadrangle to serve the needs of the two new buildings.

The University is beginning to develop plans for a new Material Science Building in the Engineering Quadrangle, said Mr. McPartland. When this is completed, he said, it will require additional parking spaces in the form of either a garage or a deck. "But the University's present parking spaces are sufficient for the first two buildings."

More Wallets Are Taken, 3 from Campus Offices

Four wallet thefts were reported to Borough police last week, three from offices on the Princeton University campus.

An employee who left her purse hanging on the back of an office door in Dickinson Hall was absent only for a five-minute period — time enough for someone to enter and remove her wallet containing $40 and other items valued at $24. The same day — Thursday — another employee lost $10 and miscellaneous items valued at $35 when her wallet was removed from her purse, which she had left behind the door in her unlocked office in Green Hall.

Between 1 and 5 Monday afternoon, a thief entered an employee's office in Hoyt Lab and stole her wallet containing $10-$15 and other items from an unlocked desk drawer. Total loss was placed at $40.

Earlier in the week, an employee had left her wallet in her purse at a nurses' stand in Lambert House at Princeton Medical Center. Someone, police said, went behind the stand and removed the victim's black leather wallet containing $70 and personal items.

A black Miyata racing bicycle valued at $600 was stolen last week from Witherspoon Street where it had been locked to a bike rack near Nassau Street with a thin chain. Police spoke to several persons in the area who gave this description of a suspect seen riding away on a bicycle: black male, about 5-0 tall, thin with very short hair, wearing a blue shirt and blue pants. The victim, who had entered a store for a few minutes, is a resident of Hightstown.

Two ears, both unlocked, parked on Harrison Street between 8 and 9:45 Saturday night were entered. Taken, from a 1974 Pinto, were a radio scanner valued at $90 and a $42 CB radio and, from a 1979 Honda, a $90 scanner.

The most unusual theft last week had to be the theft of a fire hydrant from a site at Hibben Road and Mercer Street, where new water lines are being installed by the victim, Elizabethtown Water Company. Police report the hydrant, the portion that shows above ground, had been unbolted overnight from a section of piping.

"I Am the Supervisor." An attempted theft of six, 18-lb. hams from a food locker at Westminster Choir College was thwarted last week when the thief was confronted by the person he was pretending to be.

Police report when an employee saw a suspect emerge from a walk-in refrigerator in the cafeteria area of the student center carrying two hams and noticed four other hams stacked up outside the door, he went up to him and asked what he was doing. The suspect replied that he was the kitchen supervisor and was taking the hams to the kitchen.

"I am the kitchen supervisor!" the employee said. With that, the suspect said, MILESTONE REWARDED: Hazel Rivers gets a PASER (Princeton Area Seniors Exercising Regularly) T-shirt from Tom Mladenetz of the Recreation Department and Jocelyn Helm of the Senior Resource Center for having walked 100 miles around the Princeton Shopping Center in the PASER program.

"Oh," dropped the hams and fled with the real supervisor in pursuit. The suspect, who made good his escape, is described as a black male in his early 30s, 5-6, thin, with a moustache and unshaven heard growth. He was wearing dark work pants and a light-colored T-shirt.

Parked Cars Entered. Township police report three cars were entered last week while parked in lots at Community Park.

A 1975 Volvo station wagon of a Moran Avenue resident was entered through an unlocked rear tailgate while it was parked in the pool lot. Taken was a stereo radio valued at $170.

The contents of the glove compartment of a 1982 Toyota of a Quarry Street resident were strewn about the car but nothing was taken. The car was entered through an unlocked door while it was also parked in the pool lot.

A Mazda parked in the south parking area near the tennis courts was entered and there was evidence that a gym bag inside had been rummaged through but nothing was taken. There were no signs of forced entry into the car, owned by a resident of Marten Road.

A Raleigh 10-speed bicycle valued at $180 was stolen early last week from an unlocked garage on Western Way. The bicycle was also unlocked.

Juvenile, 17, Is Charged After 'Mooning' Display

A 17-year-old resident of Princeton Community Village has been charged with lewdness by Borough police after he exposed his buttocks to two Borough residents early Friday morning on University Place.

According to police, two women, 28 and 34, had parked their car at 1:20 and were getting out when another car with four young men inside pulled up alongside. One allegedly said something to one of the women, who told him to mind his own business. With that, Capt. Thomas Michaud said, the young men started to direct obscenities and "graphic sexual comments" at the two victims. One got out of the car, pulled down his pants and "mooned" the two women.

The victims got back in their car and drove to police headquarters to report the incident. Police went to the scene and located the car nearby with the four suspects still inside. Police escorted the women back to the scene, where they identified the suspect who exposed himself. He was taken to headquarters and charged

Intruder Is Charged With Burglary, Assault

William Washington, 34, who has no permanent address, has been charged by Sgt. Anthony Gaylord of the Township police with attempted aggravated assault, burglary and criminal mischief.

Sgt. Gaylord had responded to a 2:42 call Thursday morning that a man had broken a window and entered a home on Redding Circle where he had allegedly attempted to assault the resident with a knife. Police described Washington as "an unwanted visitor."

He was held in Township jail in lieu of $1,500 bail set by Judge Sydney Souter and later turned over to the Mercer County Sheriff's Office which also has a warrant for Washington's arrest.

Three Charges. Anthony T. Hartonczyk, 64, 302 Nassau Street, also was the subject of three police charges last week.

Pizza Box But No Pizza

When eight firemen and two fire trucks responded to a report of an oven fire last week at a Red Oak Row apartment, they found that a pizza box left in an electric oven had caught fire when the oven was turned on.

There was no damage to the oven but the apartment was filled with smoke.

a Westminster Choir College lot, found the suspect Hartonczyk Saturday morning sitting with his bicycle on Route 206 near Cherry Hill Road. Police said he was swearing and littering the highway. He was handcuffed and taken to headquarters where he was charged with criminal mischief, using offensive language and littering.

Hartonczyk was later turned over to Borough police.

Possession of Stolen Plates. James W. Raley, 39, who lives at the Salvation Army in Trenton, has been charged with the possession of two stolen license plates.

After Raley's 1979 Honda was stopped Thursday morning on Shady Brook Lane for a routine check by Ptl. John Buszko, a computer check revealed the car's plates had been stolen. Raley told police that he had purchased the plates in Princeton from a black male for $20 and put them on the Honda.

Raley has also been charged with driving while on a revoked list, having no insurance and operating an unregistered vehicle. Scheduled to appear September 1 in Township court, he was later released in the custody of the Salvation Army.

Police Have a Suspect In Car Tire Slashings

Borough police say they have a suspect in the slashing of tires on three cars parked overnight behind an apartment in the 300 block of Nassau Street.

Two tires were slashed on a 1987 Chevrolet, one on a '76 Chevy and one on a Ford. The criminal mischief took place between 7 Friday night and 7 the next morning.

Township police report that someone last week walked in their bare feet in newly poured concrete sidewalks on Laurel Road, leaving behind four footprints. Also written in the concrete were the words, "David Vopalski's Revenge."

In another act of vandalism in the Township, the hood emblem of a Mercedes Benz was broken off and scratches left in one of its doors while the car was parked in the pool lot in Community Park. The owner is a resident of Murray Place.

POSTER WINNERS: Children enrolled in the Recreation Department's Summer Day Camp drew posters to call attention to the Landau Senior Citizen Picnic, which is scheduled for Thursday, July 30, from 4 to 6 at Prospect Gardens. Holding their creations are, from left, Molly Christiansen, second place in the third and fourth grade category, Emma Johns, first in the first and second grade category, and Natalie Blank, first place in the fifth and sixth grade category. With them are Jocelyn Helm, director of the Senior Resource Center, and Tom Mladenetz of the Recreation Department.

Two Fined for Assault In Township Court

In Township court last week, James Kochis, 95 Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, and Thomas J. Richards, 401 Mount Lucas Road, were each fined $250 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board, for simple assault.

Former Princeton resident Roslyn McPherson, currently an inmate at the Correctional Institute for Women in Clinton, was sentenced to 12 days in the Mercer County Detention Center for passing bad checks. That was to run concurrently with a six months' sentence on a second charge of theft by deception. For the latter, Ms. McPherson was also fined $25 court costs and $25 VCCB. She was also fined $65 on a motor vehicle charge of improper passing.

Fined $65 each for moving violations are Alexandra Akselrad, 960 Lawrenceville Road, two fines for stop sign and red light infractions; Alan R. Goodheart, 255 Harrison Street, careless driving, and John C. Eighmey, 261 Hawthorne Avenue, improper turn.

Administration Changes Announced at Boychoir

Stephen N. Howard, headmaster of The American Boychoir School since 1977, has been named president of the school. Martin Leyland, assistant headmaster since 1984, has been named headmaster.

According to Mr. Howard, the position of president is a new post, reflecting the growth of the school over the past few years and its potential for growth in the near future. He will work with the board of trustees on guiding the school's plans and developing the resources necessary for capital expansion and growth.

Before his tenure as headmaster at the American Boychoir School, Mr. Howard was director of development at Darrow School in New Lebanon, New York, where he also taught English and directed its work and farm program. He is a graduate of Loomis School and studied at St. Peter's School in York, England, before receiving his bachelor's degree cum laude from Harvard College.

Mr. Leyland came to the American Boychoir School from Solebury School in New Hope, Pa., where he served as dean of students and athletic director. He has taught at Chapin School here as well as in Bermuda. He has a diploma in education from Bishop Otter College in Chichester, England, and an honours degree in education from Sussex University, Sussex, England.

In Mr. Howard's 10 years as headmaster, enrollment has increased from 24 to 57, the school has received accreditation from the Middle States Association, concert tours have been sold out, and the institution has gained new financial strength. Events Are Scheduled On A-Bomb Anniversary

The atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in August, 1945, will be commemorated in a number of area events on August 6 and 9.

On Thursday, August 6, the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament is sponsoring a mid-day silent vigil and an evening candlelight ceremony in Princeton. On Sunday, August 9, the Soviet film, Letter from a Dead Man, will be shown in Rocky Hill. All events are free and the public is invited.

The fourth annual hour-long silent vigil will be held at noon on Thursday, August 6, at Palmer Square. People who work in Princeton are encouraged to stop by for all or part of their lunch hour to stand in silent remembrance of those killed at Hiroshima and Nagasaki and to join in a call for a nuclear test ban.

Stephen N. Howard

That same evening at 6:30, people will gather for an informal picnic by the Lake Carnegie boathouse, at the corner of Washington and Faculty Roads. Folk group Coats and Tails will perform a special musical piece written for the evening by Ian Coats. Musicians Megan Valentine and Joan Ogden will also play.

Daniel Rodgers, professor of history at Princeton University, will be keynote speaker for the evening. There will also be brief talks by Heidi Freemore, Beverly vonVorys, and the Rev. Robert Moore.

Once dark falls, children attending the event will light lanterns to be set afloat on Lake Carnegie, in a ceremony modeled on an annual event in Hiroshima. The lanterns "symbolize hope," according to JoAnne Osborn, coordinator of the event. "The noon vigil is a way to remind people of what happened at Hiroshima and Nagasaki," she said. "The lanterns represent the hope that it won't happen again."

Rain date for both the noon vigil and the evening ceremony is Friday, August 7.

The August 9 showing of Letter from a Dead Man will take place at 7:30 p.m. at the Mary Jacobs Public Library. The Soviet-made feature film portrays in vivid fashion the lives of survivors of a nuclear war. For more information, contact the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament, 924-5022.

Space Is Still Available In Splashercise Program

The Recreation Department is still accepting registration for its Splashercise Program from Princeton residents and season ticket holders who are 60 years of age or older. The program runs on Saturday mornings from 10 to 11, ending August 31.

The cost is $10. Non-Princeton residents without a season permit may register for $20 provided space is available.

Splashercise is an exercise program in the water, a natural environment for soothing muscles and joints. The water offers gentle resistance which strengthens and tones muscles. The program is appealing to both swimmers and non-swimmers.

Applications may be picked up at the Recreation Office at 380 Witherspoon Street. For additional information, call 921-9480.

Fund, initiated as a tribute to the departing director whose tenure at the YWCA ended June 30. Ms. Berman is moving to Manhattan, where she will work at the 92nd Street Y.

The fund will provide seed money for new programs, which then replace the loan when they are successful. This revolving concept is how the Artisans Guild, TWIN, and the Vietnamese refugee programs were launched. The fund has already been approached to provide loans which will enable the Artisans Guild to offer weaving for the first time.

Mitchell's Complaints: Political Grandstanding

To the Editor of Town Topics: In last week's TOWN TOPICS (July 22, 1987), Township Committeewoman Mitchell complained over the fact that she was not appointed in lieu of the Planning Board chairman as the official liaison with the Mayor to an important regional process.

To cite her "qualifications," she read from her campaign literature of a year ago, which talked about her interest in regional planning. And in a recent meeting, her fellow Democratic committeewoman levelled inflammatory statements because neither of them was asked to represent Princeton Township at a traffic circulation meeting. Since Ms. Mitchell has chosen to make this a public, rather than a private, discussion, it is important that the public realize what is going on here.

To the specific question why the two newest (six months) committee members are not the ones chosen to be the official Princeton Township representatives at regional meetings: the answer is that it would not be in the best interests of Princeton Township. While it is fine for all Committee members to meet informally with their counterparts from other municipalities, official representation is asked for when there is work to be done. These are not tea parties. Statements made may be interpreted as Township positions. The best representatives are those who have thoroughly studied and know the Township and Planning Board positions and goals. I have yet to see Ms. Mitchell or Ms. Marchand actively attending Planning Board or its traffic circulation committee meetings to learn these issues (campaign literature notwithstanding).

Personally, I waited for four years of other committee assignments before I was liaison to the Planning Board, even though I was a member of the majority party. The issue is not partisan; it is knowledge and careful study of community issues and Township and Planning Board goals.

It is distressing, and not a little sad, that the minority party representatives to Township Committee seem to be levelling charges and making highly political statements at each meeting now. While it is understandable considering the upcoming fall elections, the political grandstanding that is now going on regularly hinders the effective working of the Committee.

The newest Township Committee members have a sincere interest in the community and much potential. I truly hope that their future contributions will be more constructive than we have seen in the last few weeks.

Township, Region Suffer From Partisan Politics

To the Editor of Town Topics: At a recent meeting of elected officials called by West Windsor to review the DOT's plans for Route 1 intersection, Princeton Township was unrepresented by an elected committee member.

This was not an oversight. At the last meeting of the Township Committee, Mrs. Marchand pointed out that, when Mrs. Firestone, Mr. Poole and Mrs. Wojciechowiec (all Republicans) were unable to attend the meeting, the Mayor chose to ignore the fact that two other elected officials (Democrats) could have represented us. Neither was asked and the Mayor seemed annoyed when it was called to her attention.

I attended this meeting and was appalled and embarrassed by this partisan attitude. More important, I think both the Township and the region suffer if qualified representatives are ignored at a time when it is important that all the officials in the region get to know each other and to work together.

Chamber of Commerce Thanked for Repair Flyer

To the Editor of Town Topics: The Princeton Borough Council sincerely thanks the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area for the recent publication of a flyer entitled "Princeton Borough Road Improvement Schedule for July-December 1987." The flyer includes a map which shows the streets in Princeton Borough which will be under repair or construction during the next six months. Copies of the publication are being made available by the Chamber of Commerce through its members in the downtown Princeton area.

The road improvement schedule for July-December 1987 is just the tip of the iceberg. Over the next few years, Princeton Borough will experience its greatest road repair and construction program in its history. The roads in our area have experienced severe deterioration in large part due to the increased traffic the municipality has suffered as a result of the phenomenal growth along the Route 1 corridor. The timing of the new construction is dictated by our equally ambitious $12 million sewer repair program. For obvious reasons, the road repairs have to be made after the sewers have been repaired or replaced. It clearly does not make sense to reconstruct a road, then tear it up to replace a sewer, then reconstruct the same road for a second time.

The Borough Council has sponsored at least three press conferences in the last year to publicize the upcoming road repair program. Unfortunately, some sectors of the public are still unaware of our activities. The Chamber flyer should go a long way towards educating the public on this matter.

Ellen Hodges and the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce deserve a big "thank you" for their unselfish efforts to publicize the Borough road repair program.

Cancer Society Thanks Donors and Volunteers

To the Editor of Town Topics: Once again I have the honor and privilege to thank all who have donated to the "1987" American Cancer Society Crusade.

Due to efforts of the neighborhood captains, who distributed and collected envelopes, and the hundreds of hours our crusaders spent knocking on doors, over $17,000 was generously donated by Princetonians and friends.

Because of this we can feel great pride in our team effort. I am very proud to represent a community that obviously cares very much for the ultimate goal — the cure of cancer.

Thank you for your hard work and caring.

W. Windsor Firehouse Site Not Good for the Elderly

To the Editor of Town Topics: All that public rhetoric about the proposed Senior Citizen Housing in West Windsor obscures the negative side of the plan: The new Fire House will be adjacent to the Senior Citizen Housing and will even share the roadway. It takes little imagination to figure out why that is not a good deal for the elderly who will reside in the building.

Det. James Agins Cited For a Job Well Done

To the Editor of Town Topics: Following is the text of a letter I have written to Chief Michael Carnevale, Princeton Police Department:

Recently I needed the help of the police with a very serious problem. Detective James Agins answered my request and I want to tell you what an excellent, A-plus job he did.

He was so helpful, kind and pleasant; and so capable and efficient in solving the problem. He could not have made it any easier for me. I am not in the best of health and this problem was extremely upsetting for me. After hearing my story, he took charge and relieved me of as much detail and unpleasantness as he possibly could. This was appreciated more than I can express. Because of his interest in helping me and his good work, the matter was settled and closed in a few days.

I would say "Good work! well done! and thank you!"

You are fortunate in having Detective Agins on your staff.

United Jersey to Merge With First Valley Corp.

T. Joseph Semrod, chairman, president and chief executive officer of United Jersey Banks, Princeton, and John R. Howell, chairman and chief executive officer of First Valley Corporation, Bethlehem, Pa., have jointly announced the signing of a definitive agreement for the merger of their two organizations. The resulting company, a $9.5 billion financial services organization, will have 245 offices in 22 counties of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

"This merger fulfills our three major requirements — that the company be profitable, well managed and geographically compatible with our existing bank network," Mr. Semrod said. "The near-completion of a major highway bridge bringing Route 78 across the Delaware River opens a corridor to the growth of new businesses and industries in the Lehigh Valley and is a natural market extension for us. We gain excellent access to eastern Pennsylvania."

United Jersey Banks has $8.2 billion in assets, 195 offices, and is the third largest bank holding company in New Jersey. First Valley Corporation, with leading market shares in several eastern Pennsylvania counties, would add $1.3 billion in assets and 50 branches.

Both corporations have announced significant second-quarter earnings growth. Pro forma return on assets and return on common equity for the combined companies for the first six months of 1987 are 1.09 percent and 15.99 percent respectively, while primary capital at June 30 is 8.41 percent.

Earnings per share rose to $.61, compared with $.55 per share for the quarter ended June 30, 1986. The 1986 figures have been restated to reflect the merger with Commercial Bancshares.

Net income for the first six months of 1987 was $41.5 million, an increase of 17.4% over the $35.3 million earned for the first half of 1986. Earnings per share were $1.22, up 13%.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

MITE WATCH —

with Sam DeTuro Woodwinds Associates

Deciduous trees often take on a bronza, dusky look this time of year. Spruce, Hamlock, Arborvitae, even Azaleas, Boxwood and Privet may have a chlorotic appearance. Too often this is dismissed as due to hot, dry weather. The cause, many times, is an infestation of mites, some so tiny that hundreds congregate on a single leaf. Mite damage is not merely marring the green appearance of leaves and needles, but in actuality, sapping the tree's vitality. Twig dieback may result. In some areas where drought conditions exist this can hasten a tree's decline. Mites can be controlled by spraying the leaves with a miticide. Supplement this spraying with a "deep-root" application of a balanced liquid fertilizer to help restore the tree's vigor. To determine if your tree has mites just make this simple test — shake or beat a few twigs over a sheet of paper or cardboard. Mites that drop can be seen scurrying across the paper.

Call WOODWINDS (924-3500) with any questions you may have concerning your valuable trees and shrubs.

Squibb officials conducted a thorough study of their long-term space needs and concluded that the Forrestal Center location best satisfied their requirements. To be constructed in phases, the new building will be designed to house office personnel of the majority of Squibb's operating divisions. The building will be located on Scudders Mill Road opposite Merrill Lynch's Conference and Training complex.

Dr. William G. Bowen, president of Princeton University, said, "We have been proud to have Squibb as a neighbor and friend, and we are very pleased with these plans to build at Forrestal Center. We see this as an important and exciting step in a growing set of relationships between Princeton and Squibb."

Richard M. Furland, chairman and chief executive officer of Squibb, said that "Squibb is equally pleased to be able to strengthen its long-standing relationship with Princeton. The new site will enable Squibb to double the amount of space it occupies in various locations in the Princeton area and will provide us with the capacity to meet the increasing demands for additional space from our operations over the next decade. Our Lawrenceville facility will continue to be the site of our worldwide corporate headquarters and of The Squibb Institute for Medical Research."

Plans for Phase I of Squibb's new building will be prepared for submission to Plainsboro Township's Planning Board this winter, with construction of approximately 670,000 square feet expected to begin in spring, 1988.

Record Sales, Earnings Reported by Squibb

Squibb Corporation has reported record sales and earnings from the first quarter of 1987. Net sales rose 22%, to $470.4 million. Excluding the effects of foreign exchange rate fluctuations, sales would have increased 16%.

Profit from operations increased 36%, to $97.5 million. Income from continuing businesses for the quarter rose 51%, to $69.4 million. Earnings per share from continuing businesses of $1.32 were up 55%, as compared with 85 cents per share in the 1986 period. Ex-

Car Seat Safety Program Awarded Federal Grant

The New Jersey Hospital Association, Alexander Road, has been awarded a federal grant of $99,000, distributed through the New Jersey Office of Highway Safety, for the continuation of its efforts to promote the use of seat belts and child restraint systems.

The association's educational campaign will take the form of seat belt and child restraint information sessions before community groups, the distribution of literature and films to organizations, including member hospitals, and the urging of business, community and school groups to become involved. This program has been in existence since 1977.

1st Quarter Revenues Up At Liposome Company

The Liposome Company announced revenues for the first quarter at $872,000, a 41% increase over the first quarter of 1986, including a 31% increase in collaborative research revenues. Total expenses for the quarter rose 36%, to $2,363,000. Net loss for the quarter was $1,491,000, compared with $1,120,000 a year ago.

The Liposome Company is engaged in the development of enhanced pharmaceutical products using proprietary lipid technology.

Church & Dwight Reports First Quarter Earnings

Church & Dwight Company, Inc., reported net income of $1.2 million or $.05 per share, for the quarter ended March 31. This compares with $3 million or $.15 per share, for the same period last year. Total sales were $69 million, an increase of $5.6 million, or 9%, over 1986's first quarter.

There were three major factors for the company's earnings performance in the quarter, according to Chairman Dwight C. Minton. These were heavy promotional costs, particularly in laundry detergent categories, higher investment spending for new products, and exceptional start-up costs for a new consumer products plant in Green River.

The company's board of directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 5 1/4 cents per share, payable May 30, to stockholders of record at the close of business May 15.

GOING BACK

The following column, an occasional feature in TOWN TOPICS over the years, recounts highlights from the town's history as reported in this newspaper.

FIVE YEARS AGO

State Senator Gerald Stockman introduced a bill designed to restore half the monies that the Princeton Regional School District was due to lose in state aid. As one of 85 districts marked to lose all minimum aid, Princeton was slated for a cut of half a million dollars.

Lt. Anthony Pinelli, a 21-year veteran of the force, was named Princeton Township police chief. He replaced retiring Chief Fred Porter, who had served for 30 years and was the Township's first black police chief.

Borough Council Candidate Hank Abernathy took an informal survey and found that Borough residents wanted to keep the "small-town feeling of the Borough while maintaining a diversity of housing opportunities for people of modest income." The respondents pointed to high taxes as a major issue facing the Borough, and most of the negative comments were about street repair.

Construction of the first building in the first phase of Route 1's Carnegie Center was completed. Work had not yet started on the Hyatt Regency, but was already under way on a second office building.

Forrestal Center had already been in operation on Route 1 for a few years. Other developers, including The Belle Mead Corporation, were beginning to fasten their eye on the highway.

The rest — as they say — is history.

A "conveniently located two-year-old Colonial on Linden Lane" was being advertised for $124,900. And a three-bedroom apartment, within walking distance of the University, was available for $650.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Annoyed at delays in getting the go-ahead from Lawrence Township to build its world headquarters on Route 206, Squibb Corporation was reported to be looking at its second- and third-choice sites. Princeton Township made its own feelings known when Planning Board Chairman Hans K. Sander read a six-page statement at a Lawrence Township public hearing on Squibb. Among other points, he outlined Princeton's concern about traffic resulting from the 800 employees expected to work at the headquarters.

The involvement of Princeton families in the Vietnam War was reported growing. The number of Princeton area residents serving had tripled over the previous two years, and two young Princeton men were among the war dead.

The still-sorely-missed Playhouse was showing Sean Connery in James Bond's "You Only Live Twice." At the Garden was Paul Scofield in "A Man for All Seasons."

There were other first-run movies at the Lawrence Drive-In Theatre and the Greenwood in Trenton, both since shut. The New Strand in Lambertville featured foreign films, and proudly advertised its motto, "A Comfortable Seat for the Intellectual Elite."

Hot dogs were a quarter at A&S Luncheonette at 86 Nassau Street, while Davidson's was selling large cantaloupes at 29 cents each. Pork and beans were ten cents a can — and kosher pickles 39 cents a quart.

A "mini-cyclone with tornadoic tendencies" hit Princeton. Weatherman David Ludlum reported that winds briefly reached a velocity of 70 mph, while the barometer fell 10/100ths of an inch in a minute, an unusual drop that reflected the severity of the storm. Two inches of rain fell in two hours.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Community Chest announced a 1952 goal of $117,400. This figure was some $5,000 higher than any quota sought in the past.

Named among the Community Chest's recipients were Princeton Hospital, YM and YWCA, Boy Scouts, Tuberculosis League, Children's Home Society, Girl Scouts, Playground Committee, and Planned Parenthood Committee.

Veronica Lake led the cast in "Gramercy Ghost," a mystery-comedy that opened for a week's run at McCarter Theatre.

A brand-new three-bedroom house on Valley Road and Walnut Lane was being offered for $23,000. And $130 per month was being asked for a seven-room house "centrally located" in Princeton.

Ground was set to be broken for the Princeton Shopping Center. Plans called for some 90,000 square yards of paving, and excavation of approximately 120,000 cubic yards of dirt. This figure, according to Theodore R. Potts, developer of the center, was three times as much dirt as was removed from the excavation for Firestone Library.

Borough Council passed ordinances to widen Westcott Road and Allison Road, from Elm Road to Campbellton Circle, to a width of 30 feet.

Polio was reported in Princeton for the first time in the summer of 1952. Two children recovered quickly from mild cases, while a third was admitted to Princeton Hospital for observation. (It turned out to be a case of "stiffness from excessive swinging.")

Two Borough residents reported seeing flying saucers, which they described as "resembling shooting stars, giving off a reddish-blue light, and moving fairly slowly but apparently at a very high altitude."

They appeared, said the two who spotted them, from the southwest moving to the north and then turned very sharply to head toward New Brunswick and New York.

Among the events noted in the "Calendar of the Week" were the opening of the YWCA Day Camp, the American and National League softball schedule for the week, and the beginning of the Mixed Doubles Tennis Championships at the University Courts.

AN HISTORIC DISTRICT? If Lake Carnegie were to be listed on the state and federal register of historic places, federal funding might be forthcoming for special features on the Harrison Street Bridge replacement which the state Department of Transportation says are not available. The lake was created in 1905-1906 and was financed by the Scottish-American steelmaker, Andrew Carnegie.

ed by Constance Greiff, to undertake further mapping of the lake and to document it as an area of special importance, perhaps worthy of inclusion in state and federal registers. Mr. Kimball said that the goal of such documentation would be to support the D&R Canal Commission in its campaign to get a more sensitively designed bridge over Lake Carnegie as well as over the Canal.

Might Fund Sidewalk. The fact that Lake Carnegie is being considered for the state and national historic register might also loosen federal funding for such things as the second sidewalk that, thus far, the DOT says there is no money for. The Canal bridge replacement has been designed with two sidewalks, and the Township, the D&R Canal Commission and Princeton University have all been pushing for a second sidewalk on the lake bridge as well — for practical and safety considerations as well as for aesthetics. As a corollary to asking Heritage Studies to document the history of Lake Carnegie, Mr. Kimball also suggested to the Planning Board that letters be sent to the state Office of New Jersey Heritage in the Department of Environmental Protection and to the Presidential Advisory Council on Historic Preservation calling attention to the potential adverse impact which a new bridge, allowing a higher speed and heavier trucks, would have on historic Jugtown.

It was this suggestion that raised Mayor Sigmund's hackles. Having successfully negotiated with the DOT on behalf of the Borough of Princeton for a two-lane bridge instead of the four-lane bridge originally proposed, Mayor Sigmund feels that, as she put it, "The Borough's purpose (vis-a-vis historic Jugtown) was achieved."

"Time to Move On." Mayor Sigmund pointed out that another meeting of all interested parties — including the Borough, this time — is scheduled for Tuesday, August 4, in the DOT office of Commissioner Hazel Gluck. She was opposed to the Planning Board writing letters or initiating historic studies pending that meeting.

"The Lake bridge has been fought over, the Borough of Princeton has contributed money to the arches, and it's time to move on," she said. Mayor Firestone sought in vain to rally support for Mr. Kimball's suggestions, saying that in the long run historic review

"would save time," but on a hot night only Committeeman James Sayen sided with her in voting against the Borough mayor's motion to postpone discussion of historic registration of Lake Carnegie and the impact on Jugtown.

tional use in the residential zone in which ETS is located. Dubbed "the single user" amendment, the measure would prohibit ETS from renting out any of this proposed new office space and is viewed by the testing organization as "detrimental" to its plans.

Last week, ETS attorney Thomas Jamieson appeared before the Lawrence Planning Board with a letter offering to grant the time extension on the site plan application that the board had requested IF the amendment was not adopted by the Township Council at its Tuesday meeting. An earlier time extension by which the board had to act on the site plan was due to expire August 1.

Mr. Jamieson hinted at "a legal challenge" and seemed to be jockeying for the best position from which to take such action or to get the Planning Board to act on the site plan while the present zoning is in effect. However, he also noted the Planning Board's concern that the site plan hearing not be held in summer when many people are away on vacation. And he spoke of ETS' desire to meet in a workshop session in September "to have further dialogue on the issues in hopes of reaching a common understanding." The workshop session would be open to the public.

Councilman Robert Kuser canceled the Lawrence Council meeting last Friday on the grounds that two members would be absent. The cancellation effectively postponed a hearing and vote on the amendment and resulted in cancellation of the Planning Board's special meeting this Wednesday.

According to ETS vice president John McBride, the testing organization believes that it is financially prudent to build the office space it thinks it will need over the long term at today's prices and to finance part of the construction by leasing the space it won't need immediately. Some of the new office space will be used immediately as ETS consolidates activities presently undertaken at locations in Ewing Township and in Pennsylvania.

However, neighbors, who have formed the Carter-Rosedale Defense Fund to oppose the application, are deeply concerned about the doubling of office space on the 370-acre ETS campus and the amount of traffic that this will generate. The fact that ETS proposes to lease out some of this space is of particular concern.

The residents argue that testing is on the decline in this country and that ETS is becoming a developer/landlord to boost declining revenue. They question why ETS would bring employees from office space that can be rented in Ewing Township at lower cost, suggesting that the proposal is a "smoke screen" for the speculative office proposal.

By digging into the files, Neilsen Lewis, the attorney hired by the Carter-Rosedale Defense Fund, has found that when the non-profit testing organization petitioned Lawrence Township for a change in zoning to allow an educational research institution to build in a rural residential zone, it indicated it would be the only organization to use the property. The ordinance adopted at the time permits conditional use by "an educational or research institution."

Last week this group presented a "motion" to the Planning Board maintaining that the Zoning Board of Adjustment is the proper forum to hear the ETS application. In their view, the ordinance clearly stipulates single use, even without the proposed amendment, and ETS has to apply for a variance for the multiple use.

Joseph Stonaker, Lawrence Planning Board attorney, said he had never received on behalf of a planning board such a "motion," more likely to be found in a court of law. Essentially the motion raises the question of whether the planning board or the zoning board should take jurisdiction of the application.

Pressed by Mr. Lewis for a decision on this jurisdictional question, Mr. Stonaker said he would rule at the outset of the meeting at which the board takes up the site plan application. Because of recent development this could be some time later in the fall.

ETS has asked that Township traffic consultants Orth Rogers take into account its traffic management plan, which it feels has not been done. The Lawrence Planning Board also wants some input from the Mercer County Planning Board as to this application and its impact on area traffic circulation. Both Carter and Rosedale Roads are county arteries.

Fund Raising Completed By Edison Venture Fund

The Edison Venture Fund, Nassau Street, has successfully completed its partnership fund raising. Formed in August, 1986, Edison has invested in five young technology companies. The fund derives its name from Thomas Alva Edison, whose laboratory is a national historic site in West Orange.

The Edison Fund makes equity investments primarily in development-stage, advanced technology companies located principally in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and surrounding states. The limited partnership is capitalized at over $30 million and its investors include major corporations, pension funds and insurance companies. American General Motors, J.M. Huber, Midlantic Banks, a newly created regional consumer services group at the Bank's parent company and Southwestern Bell are among the limited partners.

John H. Martinson and James F. Mrazek, the general partners, were formerly officers of New Jersey-based venture capital firms specializing in early-stage, technology-oriented companies. They each have complementary industry backgrounds as operating executives and venture capitalists.

From 1980 to 1985, Mr. Martinson was a principal of the InnoVen Group in Saddle Brook, an $85-million venture program. He initiated 13 new investments and served as a director and lead investor of eight portfolio companies.

For the period 1983 to 1985, Mr. Mrazek served as senior president of Johnston Associates, Inc., Princeton, an investment banking firm that specialized in founding biotechnology and health care companies.

Recent additions to the Edison staff include Richard Defieux and Douglas Bloom. Mr. Defieux was previously a general partner with Princeton-Montrose Partners, a $17-million venture capital partnership focused on biotechnology, natural resources and energy. From 1977 to 1982, Mr. Defieux was division manager with Environmental Research and Technology of Concord, Mass.

Edison made its first investment in December, 1986, in a Princeton-based, electro-optic instrument company, Photon Technology International, which was founded in 1983 to manufacture and market a wide range of components and proprietary systems.

Edison has recently committed to a microwave electronics company in Pennsylvania, a simulation firm in New York and a medical instrumentation company in New Jersey.

Personnel Notes

John D. Wallace, Audubon Lane, has been named chief executive officer of New Jersey National Bank and will continue as president. John H. Walther, who continues as chairman of New Jersey National, has been named to head Kemper, Midlantic Banks, a newly created regional consumer services group at the Bank's parent company and CoreStates Financial Corp. of Philadelphia.

Mr. Wallace, who first joined New Jersey National in 1965 as assistant cashier in the Trust Division, has worked closely with Mr. Walther throughout the period of rapid growth and earnings improvement that led up to New Jersey National's acquisition by CoreStates last October 30, 1986.

The CoreStates group, to be led by Mr. Walther, who will also continue as a vice chairman of CoreStates, is one of two groups created in a realignment of CoreStates' consumer businesses. It will give direction to all the consumer services provided through the Corporation's bank branching system and also for its consumer finance business.

New Jersey National's acquisition by CoreStates was the first to be completed after New Jersey and Pennsylvania last year enacted legislation allowing interstate banking.

Richard D. Davis

Design Interface, a subsidiary of The Hillier Group, has hired architect Richard D. Davis to oversee design in the company's real estate development activities, including residential developments on the 88-acre Princeton Day School parcel and Landfall estate.

Jeannie Gobillot has joined the Weidel Relocation Division as corporate accounts manager. She has been in real estate sales for ten years, and has been a member of the Hunterdon County Million Dollar Club for six years.

United Jersey Banks has promoted Eleanor Lawrence to assistant vice president, loan policy administrator. She joined the firm in 1977 as a junior teller and has since held several positions, including credit analyst and commercial control supervisor. She earned a bachelor's degree in accounting from Rutgers University.

Colorful, Easy to Grow, Deer and Aphid Resistant, Day Lilies Are a Spectacular Season-Long Display

Those whose experience of day lilies is limited to the orange "tiger lily" that thrives along the roadside, and perhaps the yellows that brighten many summer gardens, should take a drive to 368 Bunker Hill Road, Griggstown.

There, on the acre and a quarter which Charles P. Blackmore has turned into a veritable day lily farm, are every color and shading one could imagine in a day lily, and then some. The yellows range from almost white to lemon to idescent orange.

Mr. Blackmore is particularly partial to red day lilies, and to hybridizing ever more beautiful reds and pinks. Thus he has day lilies that are reddish-pink and pinkish-red, rusty-red, velvet-red, orange-red, and dark red — almost purple-brown. In between there are pinks that reflect every stage of a sunset, and pinks that are actually peach, apricot, or cantaloupe color.

Great Variety. There is one day lily blooming right now in Mr. Blackmore's yard that is pale lavender with a yellow throat and outer petals shading to white, and another which has a distinctly blue-ish tone.

No two day lilies are alike, Mr. Blackmore says. Each is different from the next, and as one bloom fades after a single day — hence the name — the next day's bloom from the same "scape" or stem will have subtle variations. These variations may be in the intensity of the yellow or lime in the throat, or the degree of ruffling in the petals. There may be striping on the inner petals, or a bi-colored effect from arch-shaped coloration within the blossom.

Mr. Blackmore has hundreds of day lilies on his place. They are planted in two large square beds, in several narrow strips crossing the back lawn, and in long beds on either side of the yard.

"People should know more about day lilies," Mr. Blackmore suggests. "They are easy to grow. They get along in any soil and with relatively little water. They are not susceptible to aphids and other insects, as roses are, and they don't need spraying. They bloom better in the sun, but they also tolerate shade."

Deer-Resistant. "Deer don't eat them," he adds, "We see deer tracks all around and in the beds, but the plants are untouched. Moles may get the roots, but not deer."

Day lilies have a long blooming season, and Mr. Blackmore has some plants that won't bloom until late August or September, and others that began in May and June and are now spent. One could coordinate a whole season of day lily blooming, from late May to the beginning of September, he suggests.

Mr. Blackmore's interest in the plant genus Hemerocallis dates back to his childhood in Windsor, Missouri. His mother loved flowers, and his father, a physician, grew vegetables. Charles was the youngest of three brothers growing up in what he describes "an atmosphere favorable to growing things."

Valedictorian of his high school class, he spent two years at Central Missouri State Teachers College and finished his degree at Columbia University in 1938. He taught at a Georgia State teacher's college for two years and spent 3½ years in the U.S. Navy during World War II. After the war he taught political science at Fort Hays State College in western Kansas.

But he continued to spend all vacation time back in Windsor, Mo., where he had begun to grow and hybridize day lilies on the family property. Mr. Blackmore says he is not sure how he came by his interest in day lilies — other than through his mother's interest in flowers. He remembers his amazement on seeing a photograph of a pink day lily in a gardening magazine — "I had never heard of a pink day lily before," he says.

In 1939 or 1940 he became a member of the American Hemerocallis Society and

Shaw Comedy Planned By the Summer Theatre

Princeton Summer Theatre will present Arms and the Man by George Bernard Shaw as the third comedy in this year's series. Shaw enjoyed great success with Arms and the Man when first published in 1884. Its popularity has persisted through a century of productions.

Shaw's career as a playwright began in 1880 and continued until 1950. He is best remembered for such other plays as Heartbreak House, Major Barbara and Pygmalion, which was adapted as the musical My Fair Lady. As a Fabian socialist, Shaw concerned himself with the reformation of class structure, but his approach was witty and entertaining as well as thought-provoking.

In Arms and the Man, a genteel young woman, Raina, and her rich fiance, Sergius, find the perfect match not in each other but in a mercenary soldier and a housemaid. All the characters interact in a comic web of romance as they grow to realize that compatibility is not found in social stature but in matched wits and strong personalities.

The play begins when Bluntschli, the mercenary, climbs in Raina's bedroom window to escape capture by her fiance's army. She is startled out of the meditation upon and worship of her lover by this man's sudden appearance. What ensues is a love more real than the "higher love" Raina and Sergius think they share.

As the plot develops, Sergius returns from the war and begins romancing Raina's servant-girl, Louka. They, too, come to find out that what they share is more lasting than the superficial love forced upon Sergius and Raina by the social custom. How these two couples break down the social barriers results in a lighthearted comedy where banter and keen-witted comments are the rule of conversation and courtship.

Starring in this production are Debbie Johnson, Anne Torsiglieri, and David Zabel, who were all seen in Princeton Summer Theatre's Naises Off. They are joined by other Princeton students, alumni, and area talent. Kristin Branson is directing.

Arms and the Man will be presented in Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus. The show will run Thursday through Sunday this weekend and next. Thursday, Friday and Saturday performances are at 8 and Sunday twilight shows are at 4:30.

Tickets are $6.50 Thursday and Sunday and $8 Friday and Saturday. Reservations may be made by calling the box office at 452-4950. The box office is open from 11 to 6 Tuesday through Saturday and from 1 to 4 on Sundays.

Six One-Act Plays Set By Stage One Company

Rarely performed one-act plays by Tennessee Williams will conclude Stage One Productions' summer season at Rider College. The One-Act Plays of Tennessee Williams will be performed August 6 through 23 at the Studio Theatre in the Fine Arts Building on the Rider campus.

Directed by Frank Arment and Nick Procaccino, the six works feature members of the Stage One acting company, who have been seen in previous productions, including this season's Mornings at Seven. Tickets may be reserved in advance by calling 683-0444.

'Carnival,' with Its Memorable Songs, Currently Offered at Open Air Theater

Hot summer nights are prime for carnival fantasies: riding on Ferris wheels, watching magicians, or cooling off with lemon ices. It would therefore seem only fitting in this heat to travel to the closest carnival in town — the Princeton Opera Association's production of Bob Merrill's Carnival, currently running at the Washington Crossing Open Air Theater.

For more than 25 years, Princeton Opera Association has been entertaining area audiences with theatrical productions. This year's offering tells a tale which includes all the ingredients of a carnival fantasy: a hapless owner, shift magician and innocent waif who has come to the carnival to seek fame and fortune.

Princeton Opera Association sets the stage early by playing carnival scenes through the sound system as the audience arrives at the Open Air Theater. Carnival begins outside the bigtop area as B.F. Schlegel, played by Warren Raymond, tries to organize his troupe of bearded ladies, clowns, dancers and two of the central characters in the show. Jacquot and Paul Berthalet (played by Joe Paparella and Kevin McQuarrie, respectively), who are the master puppeteers. One senses quickly that Schlegel views his job as akin to arranging deck chairs on a sinking ship; the heyday of his carnival has long since past.

Into this scene arrives Lili, lost soul, who has come with a letter of reference to Marco le Magnifique, a has-been magician who has little time for anyone but himself, but a quick eye for "damsels in distress." His foil is Rosalie, played by Linda Pollitt, a character who obviously feels her ship may still come in. Her relationship with Marco (played by Ed Stout) is questionable at best, and one gets the immediate impression that she has her eye on bigger things.

Love Quadrangle. Lili (Jessica Petranto) quickly secures a position helping Marco and Rosalie with their magic acts, and just as quickly loses her job through her naivete and lack of understanding of Marco's sneaky ways. She is quickly consoled by Paul and Jacquot, speaking through their puppets. Paul and Jacquot are fighting their own private battle as to the future of their act; Paul, discouraged by the futility of carnival life, would just as soon pack up his puppets and speaks often of finding a "reason for living on this earth," while Jacquot is totally devoted to his puppets and carnival existence. A love quadrangle is established by the end of the first act among Paul, who secretly loves Lili; Lili who is enamored of Marco; Marco, who will love anyone; and Rosalie, who has had it with all of them.

Two most impressive performances were seen in this production: those of Linda Pollitt (Rosalie) and Joe Paparella (Jacquot). Ms. Pollitt is currently a senior in college and possesses power of voice and a flair for the dramatic unusual for her age. Mr. Paparella, also quite young, has good mime capabilities, is a nimble dancer and has great flexibility in limbs that seem to go on forever.

As Paul, Kevin McQuarrie looks the part of a James Dean-type misfit and sings well, but some of his soliloquy work could use more pathos. Jessica Petranto (Lili) also sings well with a big voice and good projection in her dialogue. Most refreshing to see is Music Director Joseph Pucciatti, who is a real conductor and stays with his singers throughout the show.

This production of Carnival tends to bog down a bit in the long dialogue sections of Act II, but with a large cast, plenty of action is provided onstage, and the songs are memorable (don't be surprised if the audience starts to hum along).

Carnival will be presented July 29, 30, 31 and August 1 at the Washington Crossing Park Open Air Theater at 8:30 p.m. Ticket information can be obtained by calling 609-737-1826.

One," notes producing director Nick Procaccino. "The evening will be held together with a number of monologues taken from Williams' diaries and other writings, but the real power is in his sensitive portrayal of people on the edge of despair, madness or overwhelming feelings of love."

The Lady of Larkspur Loton features Lelia Matthews, A'Lesha Brevard, and Chris Cleary, and it looks at two people's fantasies. The "Lady" clings to an imaginary past while the young man, a writer, dreams of great fame and fortune.

June Connerton and Mark Moede are featured in Auto Da Fe about two New Orleans eccentrics, a mother and son, whose disparate and desperate views of life end in tragedy.

A child's-eye view of a house of prostitution is offered in This Property Is Condemned, featuring Shelley Partee and Chris Cleary. Cynthia Lake and Catherine Allgor play a domineering "Daughter of the Confederacy" and her timid secretary in Something Unspoken, a play that touches on taboos.

In Hello from Bertha A'Lesha Brevard portrays an East St. Louis prostitute who wants to send a final message to a former client before she dies. June Connerton and Shelley Partee portray her helpful co-workers. Catherine Allgor and Mark Moede play lovers, in Talk to Me Like the Rain and Let Me Listen, who communicate on different planes. While he indulges in physicality, she escapes to a perfect fantasy of seaside peace and quiet.

Tickets are $8 on Thursday and Sundays and $10 on Friday and Saturday evenings. Sunday

Big Apple Circus Coming To Aid Creative Theatre

Creative Theatre is bringing the Big Apple Circus back to Princeton this summer. The colorful tent will be pitched at Princeton MarketFair on Route 1 when the circus opens on August 5 and continues through August 9.

Grants from Carnegie Center Associates and Princeton Market Fair will sponsor this event to benefit the children's theatre organization. In addition, area corporations have donated funds to Creative Theatre so that needy children can attend the circus.

According to Artistic Director Laurie Huntsman, Creative Theatre selected the Big Apple Circus as its major fundraiser because the philosophies of the two organizations are similar. "We feel that this circus, in particular, is an intimate theatrical experience, rather than just a routine dog and pony show. Creative Theatre believes in participatory theatre where drama serves to educate as well as entertain," she continued, "and will ultimately enrich the lives of children."

Proceeds from the sale of a number of tickets held by Creative Theatre for performances on August 5, 6 and 7 will benefit the organization and can be tax deductible. These tickets may be purchased by calling Creative Theatre at 924-3489.

IN REHEARSAL: John Bettenbender, center, dean of the Mason Gross School of the Arts, discusses the set design for "A Most Secret War," which he will direct, with Patricia Gage and Burke Mason who are in the cast. Ms. Gage, currently in "As the World Turns," plays two roles in Kevin Patterson's new play about the mathematician Alan Turing, as does Mr. Pearson, who recently appeared in the film, "The Secret of My Success."

Wartime Code Breaker Is Topic of New Play

A Most Secret War, a new play written by Kevin Patterson and directed by John Bettenbender, opens Thursday at Rutgers University's Levin Theater.

The play tells the story of British mathematician Alan Turing, whose unsung efforts in solving the German spy code "Enigma" considerably shortened World War II and saved innumerable lives. After the war, Mr. Turing fell prey to political and sexual Cold War scandal and may have taken his own life.

Mr. Patterson wrote A Most Secret War a year ago as his master's thesis in playwriting at Rutgers' Mason Gross School of the Arts. His other plays, A Safe Harbor and Fascination Cha Cha, have been produced at regional theaters. He is currently employed as a press agent by the New York Shakespeare Festival.

Director Bettenbender is noted for his productions of Are You Now or Have You Ever Been? and The Woolgatherer, which premiered in past Levin Theater Company seasons at Rutgers and transferred successfully to New York. He also directed the original production of Extremities.

A Most Secret War is the last of three new plays to be produced by the professional Levin Theatre Company this summer as part of the premiere season of Rutgers SummerFest, a festival of music, dance and drama running through August 9.

A Most Secret War previews July 28 and 29 and continues through August 9 at the Philip J. Levin Theater in the Rutgers Arts Center, George Street at Route 18 in New Brunswick. Tickets are $10. Performances begin at 8 p.m. The theater will be dark Monday, August 3.

For more information and to charge tickets, call (201) 932-7511.

Summer Cinema Lists Two Double Features

Two films about visitors from outer space, The Brother from Another Planet and The Man Who Fell to Earth, will be shown in Kresge auditorium Wednesday through Friday, followed by two French comedies of domestic life, Entre Nous and Menage, on Saturday and Sunday.

The Brother from Another Planet is writer-director John Sayles' answer to the question, what would happen to a visitor from outer space, an extraterrestrial who looked exactly like a young black man, if he crash-landed in New York's Harlem. The Brother (Joe Morton) can't talk, but he compensates with some strange and magical gifts: he can read minds, repair video games with a touch of his hand, and use his removable eye to record events that occur in his absence.

The Brother's bizarre and often hilarious adventures take him from the bars of Harlem to the mysteries of earthly love and onto the trail of a Wall Street heroin dealer.

Nicholas Roeg's 1976 film, The Man Who Fell to Earth, is a science fiction classic and will be shown at Kresge in its original, uncut version of 139 minutes, with 20 minutes of footage from the original print never seen at the time of the film's commercial release. Rock star David Bowie plays a frail and exotic ingenue from outer space who is exposed to, and finally overcome by, modern technology, American capitalism and his earthly love (Candy Clark). Co-starring Rip Torn and Buck Henry, The Man Who Fell to Earth takes place in New York, in the Southwest, and on another world in a distant universe.

Menage (August 1-2) is the latest film from Bertrand Blier (Get Out Your Handkerchiefs). A ferocious, black comedy of sexuality, the film is a bizarre and hilarious variation on the romantic triangle. Blier creates three characters, all sexual stereotypes, and then puts them through a series of comic variations that become increasingly wilder.

Heat, Humidity, Noise, Detract from Chamber Concert Performance

Last Thursday evening (July 23), the Colorado String Quartet performed in the fourth event of Princeton University Outdoor Chamber Concerts' 1987 season. This was the first concert of the summer to be held in the quad at the university's Graduate College, though perhaps it too should have been relegated to Alexander Hall.

Despite some easing from the peak of midday, both heat and humidity were detrimental to intonation and tone. There were also excessive environmental noises, including air traffic, telephones and the Dinky whistle, all of which were more suited to a performance of music by John Cage than that of 18th- and 19th-century composers.

The Colorado Quartet is the second ensemble composed totally of women in this series. Personnel includes Julie Rosenfeld and Deborah Redding, violins; Francesca Martin, viola; and Sharon Prater, cello. These musicians played quartets by Haydn (A Major, Op. 20, No. 6, known as the Sun Quartet), Beethoven (E-flat Major, Op. 127), and Dvorak (A-flat Major, Op. 105).

The primary strength of the quartet was its musicality, in particular its expressive use of phrasing and dynamics. This was facilitated by the energy which was visibly put into playing. The quartet's overall sound was pretty, and although it was not as rich as that of other quartets we've heard, it had ample variety in color.

Dvorak Best. These qualities were best heard in the Dvorak quartet. The musicians seemed most comfortable with this work, and achieved greater control over their instruments than was heard in the two works which preceded it. There were some exceptionally lovely moments in this piece. The duet between the violins in the second movement was perfectly balanced, and there was some splendid solo work done by Ms. Martin on the viola in the last two movements.

The quartet by Haydn provided an early indication of the quality of playing which was to prevail in the Dvorak. It began very gracefully with its unpretentious opening. The work as a whole was played energetically, though not too neatly. The finale, marked Fuga a tre Soggetti (fugue with three themes in an older style), was rather ragged in spots, though thematic entrances were cleanly executed.

The big disappointment of the concert was the quartet by Beethoven. In this piece the problems with humidity and annoying bugs took their biggest toll on the performance. Tone was inconsistent; at times the sound lost intensity as the bow was drawn its full length. The sound was quite muddled in complex passages, and even from a close vantage point, details in the score were unclear.

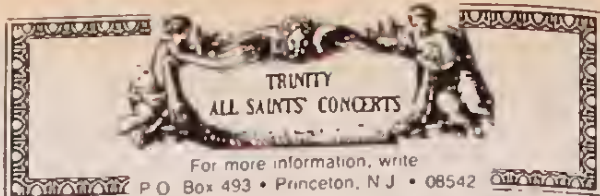

To a certain extent the players dealt with this problem better in the Dvorak by making some obvious efforts (especially by Ms. Rosenfeld) to project the sound more animatedly. This is not to say that the performance of the Beethoven quartet was totally without merit. It contained some very beautiful passages, not the least of which was a high, gentle solo by Ms. Prater in the second movement. The performance as a whole, though, didn't hang together as well as it could have, given more ideal circumstances.

This brings the writer to a final point. Hosting a concert series outdoors has its benefits. Not only are the surroundings for these outdoor concerts among the most charming in a town replete with charm, but it also affords families with small children access to some wonderful music. However, Princeton is no longer the quiet little college town it once was.

Uncontrollable environmental noises are on the increase. These disturbances sometimes totally obliterate the sound, most acutely for those who sit toward the rear of the quad. Humidity is another factor when string instruments are involved. Wood, horsehair, rosin and metal strings all react to moisture and heat. Perhaps it is time for the Summer Concerts Committee to rethink its philosophy, so that both audience and performers can more thoroughly enjoy these unique opportunities to share in good performance of good music.

Diane Kury's 1983 domestic epic, Entre Nous, is a story of friendship in 1950's France that seeks to reconcile feminism with femininity. Lena (Isabelle Huppert) thrives as the wife of a garage owner and the mother of two daughters in 1952 Lyons. Then she meets Madeline (Miou-Miou), a sculptor who has taken as her second husband a small-time actor and part-time hustler. As the two women share a succession of everyday dramas and domestic obligations to the respective families, they seal a friendship that strains their marriages.

Single admission to any double feature in Summer Cinema is $3.75 at the door. Patrons may save 25% with a discount coupon book — 10 admissions for only $27.50. Coupon books, screening times, and further information are available at the McCarter box office, 91 University Place, 683-8000, or at Kresge auditorium during the hours Summer Cinema movies are screened.

Dance Recital Planned By Second Company

Students of the Princeton Ballet Second Company will perform the dance techniques they learned during a five-week summer workshop during an informal showing of dance at the New Jersey State Museum auditorium on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The performance will be given by intermediate and advanced dancers ages 13 and older. Included will be dance techniques such as ballet, modern dance, jazz and character, ethnic dance forms, improvisation and choreography. Admission is free.

The Princeton Ballet Second Company is the pre-professional training company of the Princeton Ballet. It has its own performance schedule and performs with the professional Princeton Ballet Company in large-scale productions.

Off-Broadstreet Offers Play about King Midas

The Golden Touch, a fairy tale about King Midas — a man who yearned for gold above all other things — will be presented Friday and Saturday at the Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell.

The play is part of the theater's "Children's Classic Series," designed for children age 2½ through 9.

In The Golden Touch King Midas is granted one wish. He requests that everything he touches shall turn to gold. Soon the King learns the value of his little daughter, the beauty of flowers and the necessity of food. Luckily, he discovers how foolish he has been and is able to change his wish.

The Friday performance is at 10 a.m., while Saturday performances are at 10:30 and 1 p.m. Admission is $3.50, and group rates are available. Call the theater at 466-2766 to reserve tickets.

The Off-Broadstreet Theatre is located at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell.

ART

New Gallery Will Open At the Shopping Center

Sheila Nussbaum Gallery of Princeton, which will feature contemporary art, American crafts, and fine art jewelry, will hold a gala opening at the Princeton Shopping Center on Friday, October 16, from 6-9 p.m.

Sheila Ford Nussbaum, founder and director of the gallery in Millburn that bears her name, brings broad experience in the arts as well as in gallery management to this new venture.

Liz Gonis August, who has worked with Ms. Nussbaum in Millburn for the past two years, will manage the Princeton gallery. She is a fine arts graduate of Cedar Crest College.

Art Workshops Planned At the Arts Council

A three-day art workshop series for children in grades 1-5 will be held at the Arts Council Building on July 29, 30 and 31. Hours are 9-10:30 a.m.

The workshops, offered by Susan Kriegman, will cover box collage, designing a tee shirt, and "being a puppet."

Enrollment is limited to ten. For further information, call Ms. Kriegman at 799-3012.

Exhibits

"The Aljira Series," a collection of sculpture and tile wall pieces by Marion E. Held, will be on exhibit at the Henry Chauncey Conference Center, Educational Testing Service, from August 3 through September 14.

The works, consisting of stoneware clay forms, fired with colored slips and overlaid with pastels, were begun by the artist in the fall of 1986.

The clay forms are inspired by human figures and landscapes. Colored slips and pastels are used to overlay each light-colored clay body, which is light in color. The slips have been brushed on, giving the clay surfaces a painterly quality.

Ms. Held, a resident of Montclair, has had solo and group exhibits at places such as Rutgers University's Robeson Center Gallery, Newark; Gallery 84, New York; the New Jersey State Museum, Trenton; and the Todd Capp Gallery, New York.

A reception for the artist will be held on Sunday, August 9, from 3 to 5 p.m. The public is welcome.

Day Lilies

began going to society conventions.

Transplant to Griggstown. After a time he came to Rutgers to teach in the evening division and lived in Newark. In 1965, when his mother died, he bought the house in Griggstown and moved some 400 day lily plants from Missouri to Central New Jersey. When Mr. Blackmore retired in 1975 he could devote full time to day lily culture.

"Hybridizing day lilies is the simplest thing in the world," Mr. Blackmore says. "I'll show you." Selecting an unusual double cultivar, which, although red, is not as deep and rich a red as the one growing beside it, his assistant, Gary Papierowicz, takes a pollen-laden stamen from the deep red plant and brushes some of the pollen onto the white tip of the pistil of the double day lily.

He will collect and label the seed pod that will result, and in time there may be seedlings which will produce double blooms of a deep, rich red.

Tetraploid day lilies, which have double the chromosomes of diploids, are the big thing in day lilies nowadays, Mr. Blackmore explains. The advantages are better substance to the petal texture and greater intensity of color. Mr. Blackmore will make crosses of "tets" to other tets to get the desired effect.

At one time all Mr. Blackmore's day lilies were named and labelled, and some were registered introduced varieties. Earlier in the season, his King Slane, a bright yellow with extra big blooms which he named for an uncle, and Gertrude Stump and Mary Thurmond Stump, all early blooming registered yellows, also named for relatives, could be seen from the road in a place of honor in front of his house.

Random Selection. But over time, with so many plants around, random hybridization by bees, nature's own pollen bearers, has all but supplanted Mr. Blackmore selected crossing of named varieties. He is not dismayed by this and says that the resultant seedlings "are better than most named varieties."

One year the labels were pulled up by mistake by the boy scout troop which came to help with the weeding. Thus Mr. Blackmore, who is somewhat slowed down by the stroke he suffered last winter, is not able to come up with a name for each day lily on his place, although he seems to know each one as an individual. He spends most of the day putting around the beds, dead-heading spent blooms and pointing out particularly fine specimens, while Mr. Papierowicz does the heavy work and attempts to bring about greater organization.

The visitor is encouraged to walk around and select a color that appeals — a very difficult decision, because one color is more beautiful than the next. Mr. Papierowicz will then dig up the selected clump or clumps and place them in a box or on newspaper in the back of the car.

Some day lilies — often the most spectacular — are not for sale. They are being used for hybridizing, and Mr. Blackmore does not want to dissipate his stock. Those that are for sale range in price from $15 to $60 for a clump, depending on the number of divisions and the number of scapes it has. Day lilies spread by sending out new divisions from the spreading root system. Each division therefore is a potential new clump.

Mr. Papierowicz suggests that gardeners choose not only on the basis of color but also where the day lily will be located in the garden, for there are plants with low scapes 10 to 12 inches tall, middle, and high — up to 36 inches. One should pay attention to the number of scapes and the number of blooms on each scape, he suggests, and also to the size of the buds, which are an indicator of the size of the bloom.

A sign saying "Day Lily Sale" is posted at the driveway, which is on Bunker Hill Road, about a mile east of River Road, Griggstown. The phone number is (201) 359-3824.

Ficarro's in 3-Way Tie In Women's Softball

By winning both its games last week, including the one it had to win against 3 Seasons, Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body gained a three-way tie for first place with 3 Seasons and Grove Plumbing in the Mercer County Women's Softball League. All three have 18-2 records.

Ficarro's will not face 3 Seasons again, but has six rained-out games to make up in the 27-game season before the end of regular season play August 13. The best scenario, commented Ficarro manager Robert Smyth, would be for Grove to defeat 3 Seasons and Ficarro's to beat Grove. "That would settle it."

The league, Smyth said, can end in a two-way tie but not a three-way tie. If there is a tie, there would be a playoff between the two contenders August 18. Ahead for Ficarro's is a double-header against Matt & Al's on Sunday at 2:30 on Field 1A in Mercer Park.

In its must game with 3 Seasons last week, Janet Swick drove in Cindy Lombardo, who had singled, and Grace Durland doubled home Swick to give Ficarro's a 2-1 lead in the first inning. In the second, Ficarro's extended its lead to 5-2 when Clare Baxter and Diane Kelly singled and Lombardo followed with a three-run homer.

3 Seasons added a run in the fourth and had the bases loaded with no out when Ficarro's left center fielder Doreen "Bip" Ragazzo engineered a double play by catching a deep fly ball and then making a perfect throw to catcher Donna Nicholson to nail the runner at third, who had tagged up, at the plate. Ficarro's then added an insurance run in the same inning when Durland plated Baxter, the winning pitcher.

A-A-A-L-L RIGHT, CINDY! As her teammates look on expectantly, Cindy Lombardo, former Princeton University standout, hook slides her way toward home plate in key game last week against rival 3 Seasons. Seconds later, Cindy bounces up (below) and punches the air with her fist, as teammates raise their arms in exultation. Her 3-run homer was a key blow in 6-3 win for Ficarro's Auto Body. Victory gained Ficarro's a three-way tie for first place in the Mercer County Women's A Softball League.

Some outstanding defensive plays, highlighted by Dee Discavage at first base and Dee Vertucci at third, blanked 3 Seasons over the final three innings. Baxter retired nine of the final ten 3 Seasons batters in order.

Earlier in the week,

Ficarro's routed Bill's Olde Tavern, 15-4, in a game stopped after five innings under the 10-run rule. Leading the victors at the plate were Beth Ault, who batted 3-for-3 and drove in four runs, Nicholson (triple, 3 RBIs), Lombardo, Discavage and Ragazzo. LouAnn Slocum-Robidoux was the winning pitcher.

would be awarded second place because it defeated Post 148 in all three of its regular season meetings. Hamilton has already advanced to the state competition by winning the regular league championship by a comfortable margin.

Although most big league baseball pitchers aren't very good batters, it's a little-known — incredible — fact that a pitcher, Terry Forster, has the highest lifetime batting average in major league history among all players with 50 or more at bats ... Amazingly, of all the players in major league baseball today, only 2 NEVER played in the minor leagues ... They are Dave Winfield of the Yankees and Pete In-caviglia of the Rangers.

Battle Down to the Wire In Post 76 Bid for States

Princeton Post 76 will be involved in one of two playoffs this weekend, in the Mercer County American Legion League, to determine which two teams will join Hamilton in the state playoffs.

In the playoff format, the second-place team will oppose the fifth-place team, while the third- and fourth-place teams clash in the other playoff. The best-of-three playoffs are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. A third game, if necessary, will be played on Monday.

At the beginning of the week it appeared that Post 76, which entered the final two games (against Bordentown) of regular-season play one game behind second-place Hightstown, would play either fourth-place Bordentown, Hopewell or Mitchell Davis. The last two are battling each other for fifth place.

Should Post 76 end up in a tie for second with Hightstown, it

Whoever Post 76 meets in the playoffs, manager Larry Bender will send his two top pitchers to the mound — Jay Jordan and Tim Rumer. Throughout the season, Princeton has displayed flashes of excellent hitting, pitching and defense but it has lacked, in Bender's assessment, one vital ingredient.

"We haven't been consistent," said Bender. "The kids haven't played baseball like they can. It goes back to what I said three years ago when I said they're not dumb kids but, baseball-wise, they're playing stupid baseball. Right now, we're making mental mistakes. In fact, I'm amazed we have the record we have with the mistakes we're making."

As an example, in the team's last outing against Trenton, a wild, 8-7 victory which Post 76 "stole", Bender said, "I put on ten plays — every one in our repertoire — and every one was executed. And we still made four or five errors! We won not because we didn't make any errors but in that game we didn't make any mental mistakes."

"They're a young team," continued Bender. "I'm hoping their baseball smarts will take over because if we play smart baseball this team is going to go a long way. It has nothing to do with talent. It's smart baseball."

"When we got beat in the state tournament last year, we got beat, we didn't lose ourselves. We were able to walk off that field with our heads held high. So far, we've beaten ourselves in every single game we've lost this year. That's the challenge; they've been told. This team can go as far as it wants to go."

Stole Five of Eight. Saturday's 8-7 victory was an example of how Bender likes to nail down a win. You steal it. "We stole five of those eight runs," beamed Bender. "We couldn't hit anybody."

Four or five Post 76 runners were thrown out, including two at the plate, "but we succeeded on eight," said Bender. Not unexpectedly, the winning run was also stolen, and typical of the way Bender likes to have his club running.

Last Inning Against Bordentown Sees Post 76 Lose Second Place

On the final scheduled day of regular-season play in the Mercer County Legion League, the playoff picture had still not come into sharp focus.

First-place had long been claimed by Hamilton, and second-place was decided Monday when Princeton Post 76 was edged, 7-6, in the last inning by Bordentown. That loss nailed down second place for Hightstown. If Post 76 ends up tied for third with Bordentown, a possibility, then Bordentown would be awarded third because of its better regular-season record against Princeton.

On Monday in the first of a two-game series with Bordentown, Post 76 had its ace Jay Jordan on the mound, and owned a 5-1 lead after three innings. But Larry Bender's club couldn't hold it.

Trailing 6-5 going into the last half of the last inning Bordentown tied the score on a solo homer by centerfielder Dan Dengler off reliever Mark Lee. When Jeff Caulkin followed with a double, Bender brought Tim Rumer back to the mound, but with two out Andy Dengler singled to left center, sending home the winning run.

Wasted in the loss were Rumer's fifth home run of the season, a triple by John Clarkson, and doubles by Bill Byrne and Dan Sexton. Lee was charged with the loss.

Sports

Clarkson both walked and advanced on a wild pitch. With two out, Bender flashed one of his "plays." Clarkson took off from second and Mitchell bolted from third. Half-way home Mitchell staged a fall. Seeing Mitchell temporarily out of the play, Trenton turned its attention to Clarkson, getting him caught in a rundown. Clarkson was eventually tagged out, but not before Mitchell had jumped up and crossed the plate with the winning run.

Danny Sexton had a perfect 4-for-4 day at the plate for Post 76, including a double. Bill Byrne, in relief of Jordan, got the win. Trenton had the tying run at third in the last of the ninth, but the runner was gunned down at the plate on a missed suicide squeeze.

Trenton Wins First Game. The first game of the two-game series was all Trenton, as the Schroths shocked Post 76, 5-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Mark Mannino.

For Post 76 the game had started off on the wrong foot when personnel problems forced Bender to start outfielder Tim O'Connell on the mound for the first time.

O'Connell never got started. Unable to find the plate, he walked four, and then threw the ball into centerfield for an error, allowing two runs to score. He retired after a third of an inning in favor of Kevin Durling who went the next 4 2/3 innings, yielding three more runs and striking out five. Mark Lee pitched the final inning. Mitchell, Jordan, Clarkson and Sexton got the only hits off Mannino.

"The whole team was down," recalled Bender. "I've never seen a team quit like that. Nobody came to play."

Up and Down. In the space of three days last week, Post 76 defeated Hightstown, 9-4, and 6-3, behind two sterling pitching performances by Rumer and Jordan to climb into second place, only to fall back into a tie with Hightstown a day later when it lost a one-inning makeup game to Hopewell.

Thursday's contest with Hopewell was the completion of a game called earlier in the season because of darkness with the score knotted at 1 after eight innings of play.

In its half of the ninth Post 76 managed to load the bases, but Rumer, one of the most dangerous hitters at the plate in the league, flied out to right for the third out. Hopewell also loaded the bases in its turn.

Chris Prophet singled and moved to second when Andy Petrone threw wild after fielding Ed Gola's sacrifice bunt. After Brian Boucher was walked to jam the bases, and the next batter had popped to second for the second out, the

The previous day, Post 76 plated seven runs in the second inning en route to its 9-4 win over Hightstown. Rumer did it all for the victors. On the mound, he limited Post 148 to five hits and struck out 9, for his fourth win of the season. At plate, Rumer was a perfect 4-for-4, including a double, and drove in two runs. Tim O'Connell and Dan Sexton each contributed a pair of hits, as Princeton ended with a 3-0 record against Hightstown during regular-season play.

The win was Post's 76's fourth in a row and the fifth consecutive loss in five days for slumping Hightstown.

No. 6 for Jordan. The day before it had been Jordan's turn to torment Hightstown from the mound. In gaining his sixth win, Jordan went the distance, limiting the losers to four hits, one a three-run homer by Jeff Flatley in the fourth. He struck out nine.

Trailing 3-0, Post 76 regained the lead immediately with a four-run rally in the fourth, ignited by Rumer's 375-foot circuit smash to right off losing pitcher Jim Contilano. Add a double by Greg Papciak, a key hit by Petrone and some aggressive base running. Bender's personal imprimatur, and Princeton had snatched the momentum away from Hightstown.

Post 76 added two insurance runs in the following inning on a double by Sexton, John Mitchell's triple and a fielder's choice. Mitchell also contributed another safety to lead the victor's seven-hit attack.

"We're hitting the ball now," said Bender, in explaining his team's surge in the win column and in confidence.

day, Andy's will meet Hinkson's. The fourth team to make the playoffs will be decided between Lestician Trucking and Rhino's.

Last week, Andy's improved its record to 13-1 with an 11-9 victory over Princeton Charterie and a 4-2 triumph over Rhino's.

The first game was marked by sloppy play and errors on both clubs. Big hitters for Andy's were Kevin Phox, who had three hits, and Jason Petrone, Bruce Daniels and Anthony Cirullo, with two each. Winning pitcher Jim Lennon helped his own cause with an RBI double.

In the contest with Rhino's, Andy's scored all its runs in the second inning on consecutive singles by Steve Simcox, Pat Kahny, Judd Petrone, Alex Versfeld and Ron Kane plus a sacrifice fly by Tom Foltiny. Jeff Grover was the winning pitcher.

Monday Entry Deadline For Cryan Tournament

Monday is the deadline to enter the 22d annual James E. Cryan Memorial Tennis Tournament, which will be held August 8-15 at the Mercer County Park courts.

Applications are available at the Outdoor Tennis Center in West Windsor (586-9850) and at the Mercer County Park Commission Office in Trenton (989-6533). Proceeds from the tournament are donated each year to the Hodgkins Disease Foundation.

Jr. Football Team Forming

An effort is under way to field a Princeton team of youths in grades five through eight to compete in the Mercer County Football League.

According to organizer Tom Parker of 31 Redding Circle, a tentative weigh-in has been set for August 13-14 at a site to be announced. There is a registration fee of $20 for the six-week season, but uniforms and equipment will be provided.

Princeton will compete with existing teams from Ewing, Hamilton, Lawrence Township and Trenton. "Princeton will be the new kid on the block," said Mr. Parker.

In addition to age limitations (no player can be older than 15 as of November 1), there are weight restrictions. If enough candidates respond, they will be divided between a light squad and a heavy squad.

Anyone from the Princeton area is eligible. For more information, call Mr. Parker at 683-7865.

In the A singles the $15 entry fee also provides for the first round losers' entrance into the Consolation Tournament; the entry fee for the B singles for men with a Volvo rating of 3.5 or below is $10.

The fee for the mens' doubles is $20 per team in the A division and $15 in the B.

Cash prizes for the A singles are $400 for the winner, $200 for the runner-up and $50 for the semi-finalists. The winning A doubles team will receive $200, the runner-up team $100 and the semi-finalists, $50.

The winner and finalists in the consolation tournaments will each receive trophies and the winners and finalists in the B singles and doubles will be presented plaques.
